Rescued From Death.
William J. Coniglio of Somerville, Mass., says: In the fall of 1879 I was taken with cholera or the "black" followed by a severe cough. I lost my appetite and flesh, and was confined to my bed. In 1877 I was admitted to the Hospital. The doctors said I had a hole in my lungs, and I was told I had a cancerous tumor. I went around that I was dead. I gave up hope but a friend told me of DR. WILLIAM HALL'S BALSAM FOR THE LUNGS. I got a bottle, when to my surprise, I recommended it to a sister, and today I have a sister one afflicted with Disease. Lunus will take DR. WILLIAM HALL'S BALSAM, and be convinced that CONSTITUTION CAN BE CURED.

COAST CLIPPINGS.

Cholera morbus prevails in Plumas. Bezem, Montana, spends $3,500 per day for liquor.

There was on August 1st ten feet of snow at Crater lake, Oregon.

Nevada City is purging herself of hangovers at houses of ill-fame.

The negro Harris, who murdered his family near Visalia, Tuesday, has been killed.

The citizens of Randolph, Sierra Valley, recently subscribed $500 for the erection of water works.

A potato planter is in use in Tulare county. One man with four horses will plow and plant four acres a day.

A fruit shipper has begun operations at Los Angeles with $80,000 capital. At present he supplies Denver chiefly.

The profit of rearing a 3 year-old colt that will sell for $100 only is much greater than in rearing a steer that sells at that age for $50.

The people of Wiminequa are considerably excited over the advent of a fair game in that town, as indicative of lively times.

The crops in Sierra valley this year are better than they have been for the past five seasons, but the grasshoppers are depositing their eggs with unusual energy.

It is stated by cowboys engaged on Snake river, I. T., that a band of over 500 wild horses, mostly Indian ponies, are running in the Snake river bottoms.

The Spring rodeos are over in Lake county, Oregon. John Jackson has branded 1,200 calves, and expects to brand as many more during the year. Parties on Spring river have sold two-year-olds and upwards for $30 a head to cattle buyers.

A Los Angeles man claims that the juice of eucalyptus leaves has induced the hair to grow on his bald head. He was in the habit of pounding to pulp the leaves which he applied to his head for the cure of headache. He was surprised to have a new and abundant crop of hair commence to grow.

One of the Chisamen who are working an old river claim just above Chile Bar bridge, El Dorado county, while sauntering around the lower end of the claim one morning, investigating the lay of the land, before his companions had got down to the claim, picked up a solid piece of well-worn pure gold weighing over five pounds, and valued at over $1,000.

An Oregon Cattle King.

From the Idaho Avalanche it is learned that Mike Hyde has completed his cattle pen out in the junipers, near Silver City, and is now buying beef cattle and placing them in until he is ready to drive them to the railroad. The pen or field contains about 3,000 acres of good grazing land, well watered, and just the place to put cattle until ready to drive to Wiminequa. Mr. Hyde is buying for the San Francisco market, and will probably distribute something like $50,000 in the Jordan Valley, Bruneau, Owyhee and Meadow creeks, by the 10th of September.

I am satisfied from my experience that St. Jacobs Oil is a remarkably good rheumatic remedy," said Chas. L. Wright, manager of Spurr's extensive drug store, Worcester, Mass. "I had a very severe attack of muscular rheumatism, and suffered great pain for some time, I commenced to use the Oil, and it took the pain entirely away.

EDITORIAL NOTES.

Six years ago the temperance women of Iowa started the crusade for prohibition, which has just been crowned with success. It was pre-eminently a woman's contest in origin, progress, conduct and result. With the three great weapons in the armory of women—faith, earnestness, and love—these women never allowed this campaign of six years for the amendment to slacken, and never let a lady pass without adding strength to its columns. They made first every household in the State, in whole or in part, an ally of it. They obtained nearly all the women of the State as their supporters. They allied the church and the school-house in every neighborhood. They asked the press for its help, and got it. They even weakened and half disarmed the saloon itself by appealing to it and its owner rather than threatening them.

The Carson Appeal injuriously singles out one sentence from a GAZETTE editorial to answer. The only thing in the Appeal's doctrine to which the GAZETTE objected was contained in this sentence:

The time to support candidates is after nomination, and the paper which expresses its like and dislikes before the Convention meets may be compelled to mouth a little crow during the campaign.

The probability of the editor of the Appeal being a candidate himself makes it more becoming in him perhaps to conceal his preferences, but there is no reason why other papers should not give reasons for or against any candidate.

When the business men of a town fail to advertise extensively they diminish the trade and importance of the place, and permit more enterprising localities to take the latter from them. Although done for their individual interest, advertisers should be looked on by citizens of the town where they reside, as in some sense public benefactors, and they should be encouraged accordingly. One merchant who advertises extensively is worth to his own town and its people more than forty who never show themselves in print, and should be for this reason alone preferred, assuming that he is, of course, a fair business man.

The Carson Appeal asks if it is true that Mr. Evans put up the Fair Senatorial ticket and helped to elect it, with the assistance of Lew Drexler. The GAZETTE has interviewed Mr. Evans, and he declares that it is not. He has never failed to support Republican principles in National, State and county affairs. He has been known to oppose ring politics, but Republican principles—never. He has voted for nothing since or before the war but Republican principles.

At the call of O'Donovan Rossa 100 contributors to the Irish Skirmishing Fund met Saturday in New York to take measures to compel an accounting from the trustees. Threats of violence were freely made. Rossa stated that there was $89,000 in the hands of the trustees, and finally a committee was appointed to demand an accounting.

A complaint has been made that there are a large number of clerks in the Interior Department who fraudulently claim to have served in the army, and an investigation is to be made for verification.

The GAZETTE has made arrangements with Mr. Phelps, late of the California, to stop at Denver and give us a description of the mineral exposition. Mr. Phelps is a fine writer, and we expect something good.

Congressman H. F. Page is pulling the wires to succeed Senator Farley.

Colonel John E. Tourtellotte, of General Sherman's staff, has been detailed to accompany the Marquis of Lorne on his trip across this country.

Martha and Flora Crosby, aged 14 and 11 years, and Minnie Peddeck, aged 12 years, were drowned in the Juniata river, near Huntingdon, Pa., yesterday.

TO-DAY'S NEWS

Press Dispatches to EVENING GAZETTE.

FOREIGN TELEGRAPH.

EGYPT'S TROUBLES.

ISMALIA, August 28.

The troops are continually advancing, and it will not be long before Tel-el-Kebir is attacked. Between Ramleh and Mayum the ground is good for marching, but the canal is full of dead horses and dead bodies of Arabs. Some of the latter were thrown there by their comrades, while the others were corpses of men shot in attempting to escape. Judging from the quantity of clothing, etc., found in abandoned camps the rebels must have been in great force, but most that have appeared have been merely peasants armed with old muzzle-loading muskets. Almost all the prisoners are peasants, and all the dead are peasants. The doctors prohibited the use of water in Lake Maxim for drinking purposes. An artillery General has been captured who speaks English fluently. He furnished valuable information. We now have two infantry regiments with cavalry and artillery at Kassassin.

Our losses Friday were about 50 killed and wounded, of which the cavalry lost 20 or 30 from the heavy shell fire, and from charging a square of infantry. Our total forces in the Ismailia district under General Wolseley are about 11,000 men, 2,500 horses and 27 guns.

ISMALIA, August 28.

Major Bullock has proceeded to the front, taking provisions and baggage on camels in order to have an independent commissariat. His orders are to advance with the most advanced guards, always fearing the enemy, so as to keep General Wolseley constantly advised as to their movements and position.

ISMALIA, August 28.

A dragoon signaling on the banks of the canal near Magonia was shot dead by the Arabs. This shows the hostility of the people around here.

Among the things captured on Friday is a tent, said to be that of Arabi Pasha, and two standards. During the fighting the Bedouins occasionally showed much courage. Several hand to hand encounters occurred. One man stood his ground alone. A wounded trooper seized his sword and made two thrusts at an English officer before he was cut down.

The Duke of Connaught's brigade remained at Mahmoud for the present.

ISMALIA, August 28.

A boat supplying a post on the canal with provisions was fired on by Bedouins near here to-day and four of her Maltese crew wounded and the boat plundered.

General Williamson of the Indian Division arrived yesterday to confer with General Wolseley, escorted by Bengal lancers, who rode from Suez in two days, a feat which speaks volumes for the condition of their horses.

Mahmoud Tehmy asserts that troops cannot come from Katr-el-Dwar to Tel-el-Kebar, and that Arabi Pasha holds several Bedouin chiefs as hostages for the good behavior of their tribes.

ISMALIA, August 28.

Maymoud Fehmy says Arabi Pasha has five batteries of Krupp guns and three mounted batteries at Tel-el-Kebir. From important telegrams which have fallen into our hands from Arabi Pasha and his chiefs addressed to Mahmoud Fehmy, it is evident he sent out fabulous accounts of the engagement with the English troops, since telegrams from Arabi Pasha while at Cairo contained most enthusiastic congratulations on the victory Mahmud Fehmy reported. He is regarded as the Nena Sahib of revolt.

PORT SAID, August 28.

Yussef Bey, who recently escaped from Cairo, asserts that Turkish and Circassian residents of Cairo are being arrested daily and never heard of again. Turkish and Circassian Pashas, with a few Europeans remaining in Cairo, are guarding the citadel. They were well prepared to hold their own until the British arrive. If the absurd stories circulated by Arabi Pasha of British atrocities were disproved, the majority of Arabi's troops would desert. A large force of Bedouins remaining faithful to Arabi Pasha through fear, are prepared to lay down their arms when the British advance.

CONSTANTINOPLE, August 29.

A German officer in the Turkish service was present at the meeting of the Council when the signature of a military convention was finally discussed, and advised acceptance of English proposals.

ALEXANDRIA, August 29.

The enemy is still strengthening its left. They sent out an armored train again last evening. The man-of-war Minotaur, has shifted her position to about 1,000 yards nearer Aboukir. General Wood has gone to reconnoitre. Meks.

LONDON, August 29.

A dispatch from Ismailia states that firing began Monday evening between advanced posts of the enemy and the British.

PORT SAID, August 29.

Last evening Arabs attacked the British position at Kassassin and were repulsed with heavy loss. The British loss is 120 men. Eleven of the enemy's guns were captured.

LONDON, August 29.

Other advices received in London confirm reports of the battle with and repulse of the enemy at Kassassin. The fighting took place by moonlight. The British loss was from 120 to 150 men.

CONSTANTINOPLE, August 29.

Lord Dufferin has not received an answer from Granville, to whom he submitted the Po-tu's acceptance of a military convention. It is considered doubtful in diplomatic circles whether Granville agrees to its acceptance by the Po-tu, as the latter has been several times warned that it might be too late.

The Irish Constabulary Troubles.

DUBLIN, August 28.

The people of Limerick have practically become their own policemen, a large majority of the constabulary having refused further duty. The men ascribe the blame for the whole trouble to Clifford Lloyd. Cork telegrams inquiring what day will be fixed for the resignation of the constabulary in a body are passing between the different stations in different parts of the country. Large numbers have made inquiries at various emigration offices to-day. The opinion is prevalent that a hundred men of 10 years service and under will resign.

LIMERICK, August 29.

A petition signed by upwards of 100 members of the constabulary has been forwarded to Earl Spencer, Lord Lieutenant of Ireland, asking him that the dismissed men be reinstated, and stating that in the event of his failure to comply with the request a general strike will take place.

A Fight Between Turks and Greeks.

LONDON, August 29.

The Turkish account of the fighting on the frontier between Turks and Greeks, is as follows: Some Greek troops attempted to take forcible possession of a disputed territory on the Thessalian frontier, but they were repulsed with heavy loss by Turks under Raghib Pasha. Eight men were killed on the Turkish side.

ATHENS, August 29.

Major Bullock has proceeded to the front, taking provisions and baggage on camels in order to have an independent commissariat. His orders are to advance with the most advanced guards, always fearing the enemy, so as to keep General Wolseley constantly advised as to their movements and position.

CONSTANTINOPLE, August 29.

A special from Taylorville (Ills.) says Emma Bond was resting quietly at midnight, but the attending physicians agree that she has a poor chance of recovery. Death is expected within a few days. It was thought once yesterday that she was dead, respiration having ceased for a while. She has been at times conscious, and once or twice was found to be raving. On one of these occasions her father says she went over her former statement about the outrage, made to the prosecuting attorney, and detailed every circumstance without varying in the least from her written statement. ### WESTERN TELEGRAMS.

TUCSON, A. T., August 28.

The Star's Denning (N. M.) special says: Yesterday, a hard character, whose name is unknown, threatened to kill a Frenchman before night. Mr. Applegate came to this coast in 1843, from Missouri, with fourteen others, to join his brother, who crossed the plains and located in Southern Oregon in 1837. Of the original company of pioneers, but three are living. Uncle Jesse has never been east since his first arrival, but promises to go to the States some day. Though 72 years old, he speaks of the future with all the confidence of a young man, and is as strong and lusty as anybody.

Plain Boough.

It is not necessary for a man to say these days that he is seeking office. The fact may be ascertained by the manner in which he shakes hands, by the smile on his countenance, and by his invitation to "come and take something."

A FULL-FED RIVER.
What a Tourist Thinks of Our Booming Truckee and its Surroundings.

A correspondent of the New York World gives a sketch of his trip to California, from which the following is extracted:

The next place we halted at was Wadsworth, a "hard" place, so men say, where revolvers are in frequent use and Lynch is judge. Here the broad-faced Bannock chief got down and, followed by his tag-rag retinue, disappeared into the cluster of wigwams which we saw pitched behind the station. The flowers that had borne us company all through Utah and occasionally brightened the roadside in Nevada had disappeared and were replaced by others of species nearly all new to me. I saw here, for the first time, the golden-flowered cactus, and a tall, lavender-colored sprig of singular beauty. A little beyond Wadsworth the change becomes even more marked, for, striking the Truckee river, we exchange desolation for pretty landscape and the desert for green bottom lands. The alteration was a welcome one, and some of the glimpse even, if we had not passed through such a melancholy region as the great plains, would have claimed our admiration on their own merits. The full-fed river passed along, a rapid stream, through low-lying meadow lands fringed with tall cottonwood, the valley sometimes narrowing so much that the river took up all the room and then widening out so as to admit of large expanses of grass and occasional fields of corn. And so to Reno, where we supped heartily on "Truckee trout," one of the best fish that ever wagged a tail. As we got back into the car it was getting dark, for, with the usual luck of travel, the Central Pacific was to run its trains so as to give passengers ugly Nevada by day and beautiful California by night. Awaking next morning was a wonderful surprise. We had gone to sleep in Nevada in early summer and we awoke in California in late autumn! In Utah two days ago the crops had only just begun to flush the ground with green. Here the cornfields were brown with the sun-dried stubble of crops that had been cut long ago!

A Cheap and Effective Machine.

Gulling and Galt, two of Reno's solid ranchers, have just bought a Wheeler & Mellock thresher and separator, and a railway power to run it. It only cost $500, and with two horses and four men it will do all the work for half a dozen small ranches. It is light and can be easily moved around from one place to another. It does its work well and economically. Repairs are light, and it is claimed to be the coming machine for the mountain countries. This is the first sold here, but it is likely that there will be a dozen in the valley inside of a year.

Giesler is the district agent and Perry of Western Nevada.

Developing the Truckee Timber.

W. B. Tiffany is arranging his plans for opening up his timber belt above Verdi. He has laid still for four years, wisely preferring to keep his timber standing and wait for better times, rather than wear himself out in getting it to market and then not realizing first cost. If more of the land owners on the river had been of his mind it would have been better for the country. Mr. Tiffany has put in a wing dam and a boom to catch wood. He is going to cut it in blocks up the river and float it down. He thinks he will get a box factory and shingle mill going after a while.

How They Will Vote.

A prominent Carson politician, who has been around the State, classifies the first ballot as follows: Churchill-Strother, 1; Douglas, 2. Eureka-Doubtful, 5; Kinkead, 7. Elko-Kinkead, 2; Evans, 6. Esmeralda-Doubtful, 2; Kinkead, 5. Humboldt-Evans, 4. Lander-Doubtful, 2; Strother, 1; Evans, 3. Lincoln-Kinkead, 4. Lyon-Strother, 2; Evans, 2. Nye-Kinkead, 3; Strother, 1. Ormsby-Kinkead, 4; Evans, 2; Treadaway, 1. Storey-Strother, 13; Evans, 12. Washoe-Evans, 8. White Pine Kinkead, 4.

They Live for Revenge.

A stalwart Washoe Indian informed a GAZETTE reporter this morning that his tribe are doing their level best to multiply and replenish the land with braves, with the sole object of one day being able to wallop the moccasons of the Piutes. Though they could now muster quite a band of warriors, the Piutes outnumber them greatly, and to some extent control them. Physically and otherwise there is a great contrast between the two tribes.

How to Get a Pass.

A man at the depot this morning said he could get a pass at any time to ride on the C. P. "Bet ye five dollars you can't. I've tried it on, and I'm better acquainted than you are." The money was put up, when the first speaker stepped up to the office and bought a ticket for Wadsworth, claimed the coin, and got it.

Linked on the Lake.

On Sunday last a marriage under romantic circumstances took place on Lake Tahoe, the ceremony being performed by Rev. R. S. Eastman. The contracting parties were Miss Elizabeth Chandler and William E. Fisher, both of Reno. We may now look out for thoroughbred fishermen.
